What Are the Most Popular Colors for Quartz Countertops?

Quartz countertops have risen in popularity due to the appearance and functional benefits that the surfaces offer. Whether the material is used for kitchen countertops, backsplashes, vanity tops or other home surfaces, quartz is a great choice for any home setting.

Quartz can be found in a vast array of colors and patterns, some of which mimic the look of natural stone. You will be able to find quartz that features elegant veining or quartz that is solid in color. Because there are so many options available, there is a great chance that you will find at least one color that suits your style.

What is Quartz?

Before discussing the most popular quartz countertop colors, you may be wondering what exactly quartz is. Quartz is an engineered stone that is made from roughly 90 percent quartz mineral and 10 percent resins and pigments. These numbers can vary slightly between brands but will always be in the same region. For example, Caesarstone, one of the most popular brands of quartz on the market, is made from 93 percent quartz mineral and 7 percent polyresin.

Quartz countertops are some of the most durable surfaces that you can have in your home. The surfaces are sanitary and are resistant to scratches and stains. The only thing you will need to be careful with around quartz is heat; the surfaces are not able to handle exposure to extreme heat, as the resin will begin to melt. This will result in a permanent burn mark on your quartz countertop. Overall, quartz countertops are one of the strongest and most durable countertop options you will have and are actually tougher than some natural stone countertop options.
